

Next Generation Connectivity in Education

Explore the possibilities of game-changing 5G.

Our experience with Three Business has been brilliant. The sales team made the switching process easy, and we've got great support in-life from the service team."

School Coordinator,
High school in Birmingham

Educators know better than anyone the value of powerful connections.

In Cradlepoint's State of Connectivity report, 82% of surveyed education organisations agreed that insufficient connectivity can negatively impact students. From dependable coverage across buildings to innovative learning tools and seamless administration, the right connectivity can make all the difference.

At Three Business, we understand the huge impact education organisations are already making for the next generation. To help enable them even further, our dedicated public sector plans put speed, reliability and value first.

For Your Business

Unbeatable value

Tailored for the public sector, our plans are designed with your organisation's needs in mind. Whether it's our best-in-class pricing or our human-first services, we prioritise your requirements. And because budgets are tight, our transparent, flexible contracts (with no in-contract price rises) provide you with peace of mind.

We have a limited budget and every penny counts. Three's transparent pricing [and no contract price rises] helps us to manage spend and avoid unexpected costs."

Super-fast, reliable connectivity

No matter how big your education organisation or how many digital services you're using, super-fast connectivity and dependable coverage are essential. Our combined 4G & 5G network covers 99% of the UK outdoor population, so students can learn reliably and effectively, wherever they are.

We've got a big site, with multiple buildings, so we're always moving on and off the Wi-Fi. Three Business give us great coverage across our whole site and it's always been reliable with no issues."

Admin, transformed

With 7,000 annual learners, training providers Realise Training and Employment Limited would previously have to process connectivity invoices and monitor budgets manually. With Three Analyst, a tool for managing spend, this admin burden was lightened.

We have access to Three Analyst, meaning we can track invoices and pull individual phone data at the click of a button."
